The open letter from the police officer to Grand Chief Alvin Fiddler (Police Bashing Rhetoric Has to Stop - CJ, Oct. 4) was well spoken and long overdue.

It seems that some native leaders can make all kinds of unsupported accusations but as soon as a white person says anything they are called racist.

They are also reprimanded by their politically correct employers. The officer who wrote this fair and balanced letter had to hide his identity so he wouldn't get fired. Are we to lose our freedom of speech?

A police officer on a daily basis sees the unsanitized behaviour of people and it is quite often not very pretty. They are under no illusions about what is actually happening between people
